COLLEGE OF EDUCATION
CONCEPTUAL FRAMEWORK

College of Education Philosophy
Vision and Mission Statements
Overview – Defining Property: School Context/Philosophy

The philosophy and purposes of the degree programs in the Wilmington University College of Education flow out of the visions and missions of both the University and the College of Education. The framework for the degree programs in the College of Education integrates several features of a program model originally proposed by the Research and Development Center for Teacher Education at the University of Texas at Austin. The model was based on one of the most comprehensive studies of the preparation of educational personnel ever conducted and was reported by Griffin and others in a 1984 report entitled, “Changing Teacher Practice: Final Report of an Experimental Study.” The model proposed that a defining property of effective programs should be relations with a school context, i.e. programs must stress practical experiences in living programs and schools. This framework is particularly suited to the mission of Wilmington University, which emphasizes “career-oriented” programs offered through faculty members with close ties to the work place and to practice, and to the mission of the College of Education, which has, as its primary purpose, “the translation of theory into practice.”

Our belief in the centrality of this context dictates that competent educator-practitioners be directly and broadly involved in the design and delivery of University course content. Our adjunct faculty members are professional practitioners, who have extensive prior and current field experience and who bring candidates face to face with the realities and challenges of today’s school context and culture. This way, theory is translated into best practices, not by theorists, but by people who know how to do it and who actually do it everyday with real people in authentic educational settings. Their work, enhanced by a core of full-time faculty members who have extensive teaching and school leadership experience, constitutes the backbone of our programs.

Program History
Certification Information
Clinical Requirements and Application Process
Application for Reduction of Internship Hours
Introduction

The Master of Education in School Counseling is fully approved by the Delaware Department of Education; the program competencies are based on the national standards established by the American School Counseling Association and the Delaware Department of Education/NASDTEC Standards. Also the program is based on the Educational Division’s Conceptual Framework that focus on attributes, program, and graduation competencies that prepare students to implement a developmental, comprehensive school counseling program. The curriculum includes competencies in three domains: academic, career, and personal/social development. Curriculum components meet the eligibility requirements for counselor certification in the State of Delaware. The program includes course work that reflects certification requirements for the State of Delaware. Both elementary and secondary counseling requirements are addressed. The program is based on the College of Education’s Conceptual Framework that includes attributes, program, and graduation competencies that prepare students to implement a developmental, comprehensive school counseling program.

History

After several years of receiving requests for a degree in Educational Counseling, the University inaugurated this program during the 1991-92 academic year. The University accepted students in this program at three sites: Wilmington Graduate Center, Silver Lake, and Georgetown. The first Master of Education Degree in School Counseling was confirmed in 1993. The program continues to develop school counseling professionals to meet the needs of school districts throughout the state. Graduates of Wilmington University’s School counseling program are employed in school districts in the following states: Delaware, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, and many others.

Program Design

The curriculum for the Master of Education in Elementary and Secondary School Counseling, a 36 or 42 semester credit program, is based on the National and State Model School Counseling Program in three broad areas described by the American School Counseling Association (ASC): academic/developmental, career development, and personal/social development. In addition to the nine required courses, students with three years as a lead teacher complete a one-semester, six credit hour supervised practicum under the direction of a certified counselor with 3 years of professional school counseling experience and supervision by a Wilmington University faculty member. Students without the three years of required professional experiences complete two-semesters, 12 credit hours of supervised internships totaling 1,000 hours (100 teaching activities, 900 school counseling activities). Students with professional paid experiences in the school system or counseling areas may be eligible for a reduction of the 1,000 hours. Please see Reduction of Internship Hours process.

Hybrid Courses

Hybrid courses are courses in which time traditionally spent in the classroom is reduced by as much as 50 percent and a significant portion of the learning activities have been moved online using Blackboard (Bb). Using the hybrid model, instructors redesign some lecture or labs that are normally taught in the classroom into online learning activities such as case studies, tutorials, self-testing exercises, simulations, and online discussion boards used in hybrid courses allow all students to participate and learn from discussions.

Hybrid courses join the best features of in-class teaching with the best features of online learning to create an active independent learning environment and reduce class seat time for today’s working adult.

Students may consider registering for one of these courses in which the site is different from your “home” site. Since the classes meet less frequently, you would not need to travel each week.

Online Courses

Online Courses are courses where all learning activities are conducted using the Internet. There will be no on-location meetings with the instructor or other students enrolled in the course. Internet access is required, and very convenient Internet access is recommended. Prior to enrolling in an Online Course, completion of the prerequisite DIS095 is required. DIS095 is FREE of charge and can be completed through Blackboard in approximately 60 minutes. Access your online courses through Blackboard. Online Courses begin on the first Monday of the block or semester. Online students are expected to participate 3-5 days per week. The actual time of day is up to the student

Modular Courses

Modular courses are primarily offered in a weekend format on Friday night, Saturday and Sunday. Please refer to the course listing for specific dates and times of each modular course.

Modular adds must be completed before the first class meeting. Modular drops must be completed by the Monday following the first class meeting. Modular withdrawals must be completed by the Friday following the first class meeting. Failure to withdraw before the withdrawal deadline results in a grade of "FA." or "NA".

Modular class meeting dates/times may vary at the sites

Contact your home site office for details

- Drop deadline is on Monday after the first weekend for each modular course.
- Withdraw deadline is Friday after the first week of class for each modular course.

Blackboard

Blackboard (Bb) is Wilmington University's online learning platform, where instructors and students can access course materials, communicate and collaborate online. Sometimes you need more than a web browser to fully use Blackboard. You may access links to download document readers, viewers, audio/video media players, compression/decompression tools and animation players. You may not need to download all of these tools. Choose the items you need based on your class documents in Blackboard by accessing the website below. Welcome to the Blackboard Resources site for students of Wilmington University. This site will help you navigate your Blackboard course site and attempt to answer some of your questions. Take a look at the site outline on the left side of this page and click on the topic that interests you.

SCHOOL COUNSELING STANDARDS

Wilmington University
Master of Education in School Counseling
Outcomes Assessment
Introduction

The following narrative is designed to define the assessment plan for the MEC Program, Master of Education in School Counseling. The program is a part of the Education College of Wilmington University. The program was inaugurated during the 1991-1992 academic year. Included in this assessment plan are a map of the strategies which are used to evaluate summatively and formatively, the graduation and program competencies, the activities and rubrics which are written to document the program’s effectiveness.

The Program is designed to meet the standards of NASDTEC, National Association of State Directors of Education and Certification, The National Standards for School Counseling Programs, National Board of School Counseling Standards and the Delaware Model for School Counseling. NASDTEC conducted an assessment of the program in the spring of 1999 and found that it met the standards at a high level. The curriculum reflects certification and licensing requirements for the State of Delaware and many of the surrounding states. Both elementary and secondary requirements are addressed.

Wilmington University
Master of Education in School Counseling
Outcomes Assessment

The Outcomes Assessment Map is a plan to routinely make use of evaluations of candidate performance for success in meeting required graduation and program competencies and national /state standards. The map facilitates the collection of course imbedded criterion measures (CECRAM) that identify course, specific activity, and an assessment that is linked to competencies. Rubrics are used to measure the proficiencies of students in required activities. CECRAM data is collected in order to evaluate students’ performance in the areas of knowledge, skills, and attributes. CECRAM data is a summary of performance measures from various sources that include projects, oral presentations, action research, video and audio tapes of interviews with individual and groups. The CECRAM data derived from the rubrics provides information for ongoing planning, evaluation, and program improvement.

The ultimate goal for all MEC students is the Supervised Practicum/Internship which is the clinical experience or capstone course. Prerequisite courses are required to assure that students are prepared for clinical success by meeting prerequisite knowledge and skill competencies. Clinical supervisors assess the knowledge, skills, and attributes which are based on the National Standards for School Counseling Programs and the Delaware model for best practices. All the skills that have been developed are put into practice during the Practicum/Internship. Prescribed assessment instruments are used to evaluate students. Clinical students are required to develop a professional E-Folio portfolio demonstrating proficiency levels of competencies and standards.

MEC 6102 E-FOLIO

The efolio system is the College of Education’s electronic portfolio system used for documenting and tracking student mastery of program and University competencies. Students upload assignments in efolio and faculty grade work and determine the level of achievement on the identified competency. The program is accountable for ensuring that students meet program and graduation competencies. Students will upload SEA assignment and faculty will grade on this system. Students will also submit their Clinical Application online through the TaskStream E-Folio system.
Program Transition Points

Master of Education
Elementary and Secondary School Counseling

Clinical Information
Practicum/Internship
Description of Clinical Experience
All degree seeking students in the MEC program are required to demonstrate graduation and program competencies as counselors by engaging in a prescribed variety of related counseling activities. Each student must arrange to practice in either an elementary or secondary school- according to the grade level at which they will be seeking state certification. Students work under the supervision of a school-based certified counselor who is designated by the Program Chair as the “Cooperating Counselor”. In addition, each student is assigned a Wilmington University “Clinical Faculty Supervisor” who is responsible, in conjunction with the cooperating counselor, for monitoring the activities, interactions, and skill development of students. The clinical faculty supervisor is expected to act as mentor and is responsible for final grade designation.

Required Clinical Course Experience
Students are expected to complete all requirements associated with the Master of Education degree with a concentration in School Counseling, including both course work and clinical experiences. A practicum clinical course of 6 credit, 15 week, one semester is required for students with lead teaching experience; internships I and II clinical courses totaling 12 credits, 30 weeks, two semesters is required by students with no teaching experience. All students are expected to develop a program electronic portfolio (E-Folio) demonstrating graduation, program, and National/State competencies.

Current New Jersey requirements state that one must complete a program which consists of 48 graduate credit hours that are distributed among various areas of a counseling program. Therefore, more course work is required to meet the 48 minimum credit hours. The following courses have been approved by the Office of Licensure and Credentials of New Jersey to meet credits and course content areas: Ethical Issues in Counseling (MEC 6607), Multicultural Counseling (MEC 6608), Drug and Alcohol Counseling (MEC 6600), Classification of Psychopathology (MCC 6901) and Research Methods, Statistics, and Accountability in School Counseling (MEC 7806).

Students must choose either an Elementary or Secondary focus for their clinical experience. If a student is in a middle school, the student must elect to designate the experience either as elementary or secondary. The MEC program is designed to meet the academic and clinical criteria needed for certification eligibility within the State of Delaware. The MEC Program is an approved program and meets the requirements for certification of Professional Public School Personnel Counselor.

INDEPENDENT PROJECT

PORTFOLIO GUIDELINE/REQUIREMENTS
FOR 2011-2012
INDEPENDENT PROJECT GUIDELINES

Graduate students are expected to develop an independent project at their school site. This project should be discussed with and approved by the school principal and counselor. The purpose of this project is to enable graduate students to assume some responsibility for a particular guidance activity.

One criteria of this project is that it should reflect a need for guidance services which demonstrate the essential elements of the national standards for school counseling programs and which graduate students can address during the practicum. For example, graduate students might accept responsibility for a small group counseling program, an individual student guidance project, a group of at-risk students, or a parent guidance activity. This may be part of an on-going school commitment or a new program. In either case, graduate students will obtain approval for the project and with the assistance of the cooperating counselor will plan, organize, and implement the program to the extent possible within the period.

As part of the practicum/internship, graduate students will prepare a written report APA style (8-10 pages) for presentation at the final seminar sessions. Students will present their paper orally (approximately 20 minutes in length).

The written report should follow the in American Psychological Association (APA) style and should include:

- An introduction of the situation or problem to be addressed.
- A description of the methods used to organize the project.
- Current research on the project’s concepts.
- The results of the project using pre and post assessments along with recommendations for future implementation.

These reports will enable students to share their experience and professional growth within the practicum/internship period.

A proposal on the nature of the independent project should be submitted to the clinical supervisor by the end of the first month of the program.
To provide a service to the school with recommendation/approval from the principal and cooperating counselor.

PORTFOLIO REQUIREMENT

As part of the MEC practicum/internship, students are required to complete an E-Folio Portfolio.

1) Portfolio – An educational portfolio is a professional collection of artifacts and reflections on one’s accomplishments, learning, strengths, and best works. The collection is dynamic, ever-growing, and ever-changing. It demonstrates the student’s performance and how well they have mastered graduation and program competencies. It is a tool for reflection on the items collected, and must be approached from the point of view of the compiler (the owner of the materials in the collection). The key concepts in portfolio revolve around collection, organization, reflection, and presentation.

NOTE: Students should discuss their E-Folio portfolio requirement at the second seminar with their Wilmington University Supervisor to determine which format is most appropriate. Work on collecting information for the portfolio should be done throughout the experience so that this requirement will be representative of the students’ best efforts.

EVALUATION

The Wilmington University Supervisor will discuss the graduate student’s work with the cooperating school counselor as part of the final evaluation process. However, the Wilmington University Supervisor has the responsibility for determining the final evaluation of the graduate student. This evaluation will consider all practicum/internship reports and projects submitted by or presented by the student; the student’s demonstration of professional guidance skills; and the student’s demonstrated commitment to provide a quality of guidance services for students.
What is an E-PORTFOLIO?

There are three main focuses of e-portfolios

- developmental (e.g., working),
- reflective (e.g., learning), and
- representation (e.g., showcase).

A developmental e-portfolio is a record of things that the student has accomplished during their time at Wilmington University, and is directly tied to learner outcomes, graduation competencies and program competencies or rubrics. A reflective aspect of the e-portfolio includes personal reflection on the content and what it means for the student's development. A representational e-portfolio shows the student's achievements in relation to academic and clinical experiences or developmental goals and is, therefore, selective. The final intention of the e-portfolio is to use for job application or a Career portfolio.

A Professional e-portfolio is a deliberate, carefully designed and integrated selection of documents, examples and reflections representing a counseling candidate’s professional experiences, competencies and growth over a period of time. Your Wilmington University e-portfolio will show the degree to which you have acquired the College of Education’s program competencies and will show how you are progressing toward meeting the program and graduation competencies.

An effective e-portfolio is not simply a listing of course projects or a scrapbook of practicum and student counseling memorabilia. An effective e-portfolio is a collection of documents and reflections that demonstrates the wide range of knowledge and skills that you have acquired, and that demonstrates how your knowledge and skills have changed over time.

Your e-portfolio should be a very personal and intensive self-assessment. It should encapsulate your development as an individual and a counselor, and should provide the reviewer a clear picture of how your beliefs and values influence your decisions, methodologies and counseling strategies. It should also cause the reviewer to understand that you have unique, important and valuable assets to contribute to school counseling.

What should the portfolio look like?

There is no standard “look” for a portfolio. . . and there is no standard way that the e-portfolio should be organized. You don’t want a “cookie cutter” portfolio (and neither does anyone else). Remember that the portfolio is a reflection of YOU, and you are unique! There are, however, some common-sense standards that should be observed and some basic items that must be included.
• The e-portfolio should be organized around a clearly expressed central theme of meeting program and graduation competencies.

• E-portfolio sections should be marked or divided for easy identification and access by the reviewer.

• All typewritten sections should use a standard “non-fancy” font. 11 or 12 point Times New Roman is recommended. (This document is written in 11 ad 12 point TNR) Margins should be no wider than 1.25 inch. Pages should be numbered at the top right. Single or 1.5 spacing is recommended.

• The e-portfolio should be visually attractive (but avoid “cute”). Be as creative as you need to be, but remember that creativity has more to do with quality of thinking than quality of decorating.

• The portfolio should begin with a letter to the reader that explains the portfolio’s purpose. The letter can also alert the reader to special sections and/or information that you want to highlight.

• An early entry in the portfolio should be your Philosophy of Counseling. One page is enough. A reflective piece could explain how your philosophy might have grown and changed over time, and why it might continue to do so. You could include an early “philosophy” written during Theories course as a way to document how your ideas might have changed over time.

• Include a carefully composed resume (also known as a curriculum vitae), one page only. Check the internet for samples.

• The e-portfolio must provide evidence that you have acquired the Wilmington University identified program and graduation competencies (see rubrics). This is the most important part of the portfolio. You might also want to show how your progress relates to proficiency in the ASCA and National/Delaware’s Model School Counseling Program Standards.

Make sure that charts, photos, illustrations, work samples, etc., have captions with explanations

Interact with your peers during the process of creating your portfolio. Share ideas, ask for help and insights. (Collaboration produces a better portfolio.)

Be absolutely certain that your entries are grammatically correct and error-free (structure, grammar, spelling, punctuation, pronoun agreement, etc.). Again, collaboration, sharing, editing and revising with the help of your peers is the way to go.

Who will see the portfolio?
The audience for your portfolio could include some or all of the following:
- Yourself (most important, since the focus is on reflection);
- Instructors and faculty in your counselor preparation program;
- Your peers, now and later;
- A Portfolio Review Committee;
- Program reviewers (from accrediting agencies such as NCATE or NASDTEC);
- A prospective employer.
When is the portfolio due?

Your E-Folio must be ready for review by your Wilmington Clinical Faculty Supervisor no later than the last day of your student counseling assignment. Your e-portfolio will be graded and feedback will be posted within E-Folio.

How will the portfolio be evaluated?

Full-time faculty, adjunct faculty and/or school practitioners review portfolios. Reviewers rate in terms of overall organization and appeal; Writing mechanics (style, correct grammar, spelling, etc.); theme, required entries; documentation of program competencies, counseling standards and professional growth; quality of reflections, creativity of visuals, etc. e-portfolios are rated as Unsatisfactory, Basic, Proficient, or Distinguished. A rating of Basic or higher is required for program completion.

An unsatisfactory rating means that e-portfolio components (one or more) are incomplete or judged to be substandard. Candidates must revise and resubmit satisfactory portfolios in order to receive a passing grade for clinical course work and to be eligible for program completion and graduation. Students whose portfolios have been rated as unsatisfactory will receive the grad of I (Incomplete) for clinical course work. The grade of Incomplete automatically changes to a failure after 60 calendar days. A basic rating means that all required components are included and all work is of acceptable quality. A proficient rating means that all required components are included and all work is of consistently high quality. A distinguished rating means that the portfolio exceeds expectations and is of clearly superior quality, especially in terms of standards-related reflections and documents accomplishments.

What are some examples of “documented accomplishments?”

There are literally hundreds of items that could be included to document your accomplishments and demonstrate competency. You must carefully consider the kinds of evidence you have, how understandable it will be to the reader (who won’t have the context knowledge that you have), how cumbersome it might be, etc. Examples could include (but are not limited to) the following:

- Research papers
- Examples of your writing proficiency
- Awards, recognition, honors
- Professors’ recommendations, comments
- Important decision you made during student counseling
- Details of in service training sessions
- Details of professional development sessions

STUDENT ETHICS POLICY
AMERICAN SCHOOL COUNSELING ASSOCIATION
(ASCA) ETHICAL STANDARDS FOR SCHOOL COUNSELORS

ASCA’s Ethical Standards for School Counselors were adopted by the ASCA Delegate Assembly, March 19, 1984, revised March 27, 1992, June 25, 1998 and June 26, 2004.

Preamble

The American School Counselor Association (ASCA) is a professional organization whose members are certified/licensed in school counseling with unique qualifications and skills to address the academic, personal/social and career development needs of all students. Professional school counselors are advocates, leaders, collaborators and consultants who create opportunities for equity in access and success in educational opportunities by connecting their programs to the mission of schools and subscribing to the following tenets of professional responsibility:

• Each person has the right to be respected, be treated with dignity and have access to a comprehensive school counseling program that advocates for and affirms all students from diverse populations regardless of ethnic/racial status, age, economic status, special needs, English as a second language or other language group, immigration status, sexual orientation, gender, gender identity/expression, family type, religious/spiritual identity and appearance.

• Each person has the right to receive the information and support needed to move toward self-direction and self-development and affirmation within one's group identities, with special care being given to students who have historically not received adequate educational services: students of color, low socio-economic students, students with disabilities and students with non-dominant language backgrounds.

• Each person has the right to understand the full magnitude and meaning of his/her educational choices and how those choices will affect future opportunities.

• Each person has the right to privacy and thereby the right to expect the counselor-student relationship to comply with all laws, policies and ethical standards pertaining to confidentiality in the school setting.

In this document, ASCA specifies the principles of ethical behavior necessary to maintain the high standards of integrity, leadership and professionalism among its members. The Ethical Standards for School Counselors were developed to clarify the nature of ethical responsibilities held in common by school counseling professionals. The purposes of this document are to:

• Serve as a guide for the ethical practices of all professional school counselors regardless of level, area, population served or membership in this professional association;

• Provide self-appraisal and peer evaluations regarding counselor responsibilities to students, parents/guardians, colleagues and professional associates, schools, communities and the counseling profession; and

• Inform those served by the school counselor of acceptable counselor practices and expected professional behavior.
A.1. Responsibilities to Students

The professional school counselor:

a. Has a primary obligation to the student, who is to be treated with respect as a unique individual.

b. Is concerned with the educational, academic, career, personal and social needs and encourages the maximum development of every student.

c. Respects the student’s values and beliefs and does not impose the counselor’s personal values.

d. Is knowledgeable of laws, regulations and policies relating to students and strives to protect and inform students regarding their rights.

A.2. Confidentiality

The professional school counselor:

a. Informs students of the purposes, goals, techniques and rules of procedure under which they may receive counseling at or before the time when the counseling relationship is entered. Disclosure notice includes the limits of confidentiality such as the possible necessity for consulting with other professionals, privileged communication, and legal or authoritative restraints. The meaning and limits of confidentiality are defined in developmentally appropriate terms to students.

b. Keeps information confidential unless disclosure is required to prevent clear and imminent danger to the student or others or when legal requirements demand that confidential information be revealed. Counselors will consult with appropriate professionals when in doubt as to the validity of an exception.

c. In absence of state legislation expressly forbidding disclosure, considers the ethical responsibility to provide information to an identified third party who, by his/her relationship with the student, is at a high risk of contracting a disease that is commonly known to be communicable and fatal. Disclosure requires satisfaction of all of the following conditions:
- Student identifies partner or the partner is highly identifiable
- Counselor recommends the student notify partner and refrain from further high-risk behavior
- Student refuses
- Counselor informs the student of the intent to notify the partner
- Counselor seeks legal consultation as to the legalities of informing the partner

d. Requests of the court that disclosure not be required when the release of confidential information may potentially harm a student or the counseling relationship.

e. Protects the confidentiality of students’ records and releases personal data in accordance with prescribed laws and school policies. Student information stored and transmitted electronically is treated with the same care as traditional student records.

f. Protects the confidentiality of information received in the counseling relationship as specified by federal and state laws, written policies and applicable ethical standards. Such information is only to be revealed to others with the informed consent of the student, consistent with the counselor’s ethical obligation.

g. Recognizes his/her primary obligation for confidentiality is to the student but balances that obligation with an understanding of the legal and inherent rights of parents/guardians to be the guiding voice in their children’s lives.

A.3. Counseling Plans

The professional school counselor:
a. Provides students with a comprehensive school counseling program that includes a strong emphasis on working jointly with all students to develop academic and career goals.

b. Advocates for counseling plans supporting students right to choose from the wide array of options when they leave secondary education. Such plans will be regularly reviewed to update students regarding critical information they need to make informed decisions.

A.4. Dual Relationships

The professional school counselor:

a. Avoids dual relationships that might impair his/her objectivity and increase the risk of harm to the student (e.g., counseling one’s family members, close friends or associates). If a dual relationship is unavoidable, the counselor is responsible for taking action to eliminate or reduce the potential for harm. Such safeguards might include informed consent, consultation, supervision and documentation.

b. Avoids dual relationships with school personnel that might infringe on the integrity of the counselor/student relationship

A.5. Appropriate Referrals

The professional school counselor:

a. Makes referrals when necessary or appropriate to outside resources. Appropriate referrals may necessitate informing both parents/guardians and students of applicable resources and making proper plans for transitions with minimal interruption of services. Students retain the right to discontinue the counseling relationship at any time.

A.6. Group Work

The professional school counselor:

a. Screens prospective group members and maintains an awareness of participants’ needs and goals in relation to the goals of the group. The counselor takes reasonable precautions to protect members from physical and psychological harm resulting from interaction within the group.

b. Notifies parents/guardians and staff of group participation if the counselor deems it appropriate and if consistent with school board policy or practice.

c. Establishes clear expectations in the group setting and clearly states that confidentiality in group counseling cannot be guaranteed. Given the developmental and chronological ages of minors in schools, the counselor recognizes the tenuous nature of confidentiality for minors renders some topics inappropriate for group work in a school setting.

d. Follows up with group members and documents proceedings as appropriate.

A.7. Danger to Self or Others

The professional school counselor:

a. Informs parents/guardians or appropriate authorities when the student’s condition indicates a clear and imminent danger to the student or others. This is to be done after careful deliberation and, where possible, after consultation with other counseling professionals.

b. Will attempt to minimize threat to a student and may choose to 1) inform the student of actions to be taken, 2) involve the student in a three-way communication with parents/guardians when breaching confidentiality or 3) allow the student to have input as to how and to whom the breach will be made.
A.8. Student Records

The professional school counselor:

a. Maintains and secures records necessary for rendering professional services to the student as required by laws, regulations, institutional procedures and confidentiality guidelines.

b. Keeps sole-possession records separate from students’ educational records in keeping with state laws.

c. Recognizes the limits of sole-possession records and understands these records are a memory aid for the creator and in absence of privilege communication may be subpoenaed and may become educational records when they 1) are shared with others in verbal or written form, 2) include information other than professional opinion or personal observations and/or 3) are made accessible to others.

d. Establishes a reasonable timeline for purging sole-possession records or case notes. Suggested guidelines include shredding sole possession records when the student transitions to the next level, transfers to another school or graduates. Careful discretion and deliberation should be applied before destroying sole-possession records that may be needed by a court of law such as notes on child abuse, suicide, sexual harassment or violence.

A.9. Evaluation, Assessment and Interpretation

The professional school counselor:

a. Adheres to all professional standards regarding selecting, administering and interpreting assessment measures and only utilizes assessment measures that are within the scope of practice for school counselors.

b. Seeks specialized training regarding the use of electronically based testing programs in administering, scoring and interpreting that may differ from that required in more traditional assessments.

c. Considers confidentiality issues when utilizing evaluative or assessment instruments and electronically based programs.

d. Provides interpretation of the nature, purposes, results and potential impact of assessment/evaluation measures in language the student(s) can understand.

e. Monitors the use of assessment results and interpretations, and takes reasonable steps to prevent others from misusing the information.

f. Uses caution when utilizing assessment techniques, making evaluations and interpreting the performance of populations not represented in the norm group on which an instrument is standardized.

g. Assesses the effectiveness of his/her program in having an impact on students’ academic, career and personal/social development through accountability measures especially examining efforts to close achievement, opportunity and attainment gaps.

A.10. Technology

The professional school counselor:

a. Promotes the benefits of and clarifies the limitations of various appropriate technological applications. The counselor promotes technological applications (1) that are appropriate for the student’s individual needs, (2) that the student understands how to use and (3) for which follow-up counseling assistance is provided.
b. Advocates for equal access to technology for all students, especially those historically underserved.

c. Takes appropriate and reasonable measures for maintaining confidentiality of student information and educational records stored or transmitted over electronic media including although not limited to fax, electronic mail and instant messaging.

d. While working with students on a computer or similar technology, takes reasonable and appropriate measures to protect students from objectionable and/or harmful online material.

e. Who is engaged in the delivery of services involving technologies such as the telephone, videoconferencing and the Internet takes responsible steps to protect students and others from harm.

A.11. Student Peer Support Program

The professional school counselor:
Has unique responsibilities when working with student-assistance programs. The school counselor is responsible for the welfare of students participating in peer-to-peer programs under his/her direction.

B. Responsibilities to Parents/Guardians

FINANCIAL AID INFORMATION
Financial Aid Information
Please access the Financial Aid site for most current information:

http://www.wilmu.edu/financialaid/index.aspx

FINANCIAL AID FOR GRADUATE AND PROFESSIONAL STUDENTS
Graduate and professional students who are matriculated into programs at Wilmington University may opt to participate in the Federal Family Educational Loan Program to assist in the funding of their education. Under the Federal Stafford Loan Program, an eligible student may borrow directly from his/her bank or other participating financial institution. Under current regulations, the amount a student may borrow each year will be the lesser of: a) the amount of calculated financial need, or b) the maximum loan limit set by the federal government.

ELIGIBILITY
Eligibility for loans is estimated by submission of a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (available through the Financial Aid Office at the New Castle campus). A student must plan to be enrolled for six credits (2 courses/semester) to be considered for the loan.

After the FAFSA output document (Student Aid Report of SAR) has been received by the student, the applicant must submit the report and a Federal Stafford Loan Master Promissory Note and Request-for-Funds form to the Financial Aid Office. The loan application will be certified and forwarded to the lender for guarantee and disbursement of the proceeds.

PLEASE NOTE: Graduate and professional students must be fully accepted into their program in order to have a loan processed. Questions regarding financial aid or student loans should be addressed to the Financial Aid Office (328-9401 x106).

VETERANS’ BENEFITS
The Graduate Program at Wilmington University is approved for retraining of veterans. In order to establish eligibility, inquiring veterans must register with the Veterans’ Affairs Coordinator at the University. Information may be obtained from the Veterans’ Affairs Office at the New Castle campus.

Frequently Asked Questions
How do I apply for financial aid?
After January 1 of any given year apply online with the federal government. You need to complete the form after having read the instructions thoroughly, and submit it to the government by April 15. This early submission will insure that we get your data in time for early awarding.

Once I file for aid, when will I receive a response?
The University will begin to package aid at the end of April. Awarding will continue throughout the Spring and Summer. We encourage early application so that we can settle your financial situation prior to August registration.

What does a financial aid package include?
A financial aid package may consist of combination of grants, loans, and/or work study. The receipt of these awards is dependent upon the level of funds available, and your eligibility as determined by the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA).
What about institutional scholarship funds?

Wilmington University offers a limited number of institutional scholarship awards to new students who have demonstrated exemplary academic performance. Students may request scholarship applications from the Financial Aid office after January 1. Applications for the following year are due in April.

Am I likely to get a grant in my aid package?

The federal government determines grant eligibility by information supplied in the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). This determination includes factors, such as income, to award grants.

When should I apply for the Federal Stafford Loan?

We begin to process Federal Stafford Student Loans for the coming academic year in Spring. We advise you to apply as early as possible. You must be aware that it takes several weeks for the entire process to be completed. To ensure that your award is processed in time for fall registration, complete applications and supply all requested documents to the financial aid office by June 30th.

What is this verification process I hear about?

If you are selected for verification, we will ask you and your parents for all the tax information reported for the previous year. Those in private business are required to submit all tax forms reported to the Federal government (such as partnership and/or S-Corporation returns), as well as individual income tax information. The review of tax information may take some time and may delay the finalization of financial aid which has been suggested to you.

If there are great discrepancies between the information you submitted on the SAR and that which comes through subsequent data which you provide us, the aid award may be withdrawn, reduced, or adjusted in some way. You can help us and yourself by first being as accurate as possible with the information you indicate on the SAR, and second by responding rapidly and completely to requests for subsidiary information which might be involved in the verification process.

When am I considered a self-supporting student (independent of my parents)?

To be considered a self supporting (independent) student you must be: 24 years of age, an orphan or ward of the court, a veteran of 180 active consecutive days of military service, a graduate student, married, or have legal dependents other than a spouse. If none of the previously mentioned circumstances apply, then the student is required to supply their parent’s income information.
