

Doctor of Nursing Practice (D.N.P.)

Become an Expert Clinician and Health Care Leader With a D.N.P.

Wilmington University's flexible and affordable D.N.P. degree program prepares advanced practice nurses and nurse leaders with the integrated clinical and leadership skills necessary for advanced nursing practice. Courses examine the relationships among health policy, informatics, population health and business practices in the care of individuals, families and communities.

Hands-On D.N.P. Courses Guided by Seasoned Practitioners and Health Care Leaders

Doctorally prepared D.N.P. faculty will lead you as you bridge the gap between research and clinical practice through coursework, experiential engagement hours and a D.N.P. project.

Flexible Program Options

WilmU's D.N.P. program offers 100% online options for optimum flexibility. Some courses are offered in a weekend-intensive hybrid format.

Many D.N.P. Paths To Reach Your Goal

In addition to the traditional D.N.P. pathway (with a choice of Advanced Practice or Leadership), WilmU also offers: an accelerated M.S.N. to D.N.P. pathway, a combined D.N.P. + MBA in Health Care Administration, a D.N.P. + M.S. in Management in Health Care Administration, a Ph.D. to D.N.P. pathway and a combined D.N.P. + Post-Master's Nurse Practitioner certificate in five specialties.

Note: For the dual-degree options of D.N.P. + MBA or M.S. in Management, candidates must first be accepted into the D.N.P. program and then work with the College to add the MBA or M.S. in Management. In order to qualify for the dual degree, the programs must be started at the same time. Contact your program chair for guidance.
