

Digital Education Graduate Certificate

This certificate can help deepen your knowledge of technology resources so you can facilitate educational opportunities using mobile devices, design online courses, understand cloud-based computing and applications, and develop multimedia instruction. Use these skills to become a technology leader in your K-12 classroom, school or district — or to become a corporate trainer in your organization, college or university.

Through Dual-Credit ADVANTAGE™, you can apply these courses and their credits to Wilmu's Master of Education degrees in either Applied Technology or Interdisciplinary Studies in Education.

The standards and program competencies adopted for this certificate are the National Educational Technology Standards for Teachers (NETS-T) issued by the International Society for Technology in Education. To qualify for this graduate certificate, a candidate must successfully complete the 15 credits and petition for the certificate.

Note: Completion of this certificate does not qualify the recipient for a Delaware teaching license, endorsement or certification, since there is no applicable Delaware licensing category.
