

Your Guide to Paying for Your Education

WILMINGTON
UNIVERSITY®

Your college education is an investment in your future, but you shouldn't have to break the bank to pay for it.

Understand our tuition philosophy.

WilMU® does not differentiate between in-state and out-of-state students. Whether you choose to take courses in person at our locations throughout Delaware or decide to take them online, tuition will always be a low rate. Tuition is charged on a per-credit basis, so you only need to pay for the credits you're actually taking.

FINANCIAL AID 101

Any kind of funding that helps pay for college is considered financial aid. It can come from the federal government, private sources or the University itself. It includes:

Federal Student Aid

Federal Student Aid is the most common form of financing for students and can include grants, loans and work study. In order to be considered for federal aid, you must complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA®).

The federal government determines your overall eligibility for federal aid when you complete the FAFSA, and it's the first step in WilMU's financial aid process. Complete and submit your FAFSA at studentaid.gov using Wilmington University's School Code: 007948. Keep in mind that Wilmington University's financial aid year begins in the fall semester and ends with summer.

Payment Plans

You may choose to pay your tuition costs in monthly installments throughout the semester for any tuition and fees not covered by any financial aid award you may receive. Payments can be made several ways:

Check: Online, by mail or in person

Credit Card: Online, over the phone or in person

Cash: In person only

At Wilmington University, we're committed to keeping education affordable and telling you all of the costs of earning your degree or certificate from the very beginning.

Scholarships

Many national and local organizations provide scholarship opportunities to students. The criteria vary based on the organization offering the award, demonstrated financial need and academic merit. The University also awards a number of scholarships annually to our students based on merit, financial need and other criteria.

Other Funding Sources

Employer Reimbursement

Many organizations help their employees pay for school. Contact your employer's human resources department to see if tuition benefits are available.

Military Benefits

Individuals who have served or are currently serving in the military — as well as their dependents — may be eligible to have their tuition covered under veterans benefits. In addition, active-duty military students may take advantage of WilmU's military tuition rate and any tuition assistance programs offered by their military branch.
