Selecting the correct audio device can sometimes cause you to hit a snag when recording. If you’re on a Mac, try these steps to select the correct recording device.

To get the best quality audio, use a headset for recording whenever possible, whether it’s a screen record or webcam.

Make sure to select the appropriate headset or device in step 4, if yours is different from the one listed in the picture.